Deer Hunter Now Confronted With New District Here

When deer season opens next month in Districts 2, 2½ and 3, hunters going into the northern mountains for game will have a new district to avoid. District 2½ is the new preserve provided, and the opening date has been postponed to August 16 rather than August 1 as in the old districts. The territory covered is all of Mendocino county lying east of the Redwood highway and north of the Ukiah-Tahoe highway and also includes all of Lake and Colusa counties north of the Ukiah-Tahoe highway and all of Glenn county. Bartlett Mountain and all the district north of this is in the new district. The Ukiah-Tahoe road is the boundary line of the new district. Hunters who make their kill in the open districts must have their deer tags validated before a notary public or a game warden before taking their game into closed territory.

Ray Ware Assumed Duties Of Postoffice

Ray Ware, recently appointed postmaster in Fort Bragg, assumed his duties there Monday. The personnel of the postoffice will be the same as before Mr. Ware was appointed.

LEFT $6100

Papers filed at Santa Rosa in the estate proceedings of the late Emma Norgard Eriksen, killed in an automobile accident at Lodi, in which Mrs. Cecelia Norgard, Mrs. Eriksen's mother, also met death, show Mrs. Eriksen left an estate valued at $6100.

GETTING RELIEF

Roy Meyers returned again to Orr's Springs last week, having received much benefit as the result of his earlier stay there and went back with hope he would obtain a permanent cure for his rheumatism.

COURTING TROUBLE

Vandals are reported to have destroyed a number of rural mail boxes on the Lake Tahoe-Ukiah highway. There is a serious penalty imposed for such acts.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Beckley are constructing a home on the Talmage road and have the house well along toward completion.

FACED MANY DANGERS ONLY TO BE SHOT IN AMATEURISH WAY

Arif W. Stultz Drops Revolver And Got Slight Wound

Arif W. Stultz did his stuff in the World War. He was a deep-sea diver in the tropics and he is credited with having caught, alive, more rattlesnakes than any man in Mendocino county, but when a revolver dropped out of the holster while serving in the State Traffic Patrol the other day, it was just too bad for Arif Stultz, in one way, and fortunate in another.

Was Guarding Trucks.

Mr. Stultz, who is awaiting appointment on the State Highway Patrol in this county, having taken the examination and being certified as number one on the eligible list, was asked to help out the patrol members in convoying trucks during the Longshoremen's strike and was serving as a special officer at the time of the accident.

How Accident Happened.

Thursday morning Officer Stultz had just finished his breakfast in Roy's Grill and, in company with another officer, was about to enter a car to begin patrol work when the revolver he was carrying, and which he had unloosened from about his waist during the meal, dropped from the holster and, striking the runningboard of the automobile he was standing by, was discharged.

Shell Low-Loaded.

The shells in the revolver had been low-loaded, that is they did not carry the regulation amount of powder, having been loaded to use in target practice and, as a consequence the shell discharged did not have the force behind the bullet it otherwise would have had and, instead of tearing away the flesh and, probably, shattering the bone , the bullet splintered the bone and passed upward, after splitting into three pieces, and is now lodged in the calf.

Laid Up A Month.

Dr. H. O. Cleland, who is the attending surgeon, plans to take the bullet out in a day or two. Mr. Stultz has a ranch in the Cow Mountain section and has a wife and small daughter. It is believed Mr. Stultz will be compelled to remain in Ukiah General Hospital, where he was taken, three weeks or a month, but that he will not suffer any permanent injuries. The accident to Mr. Stultz was the only near-serious aftermath of the strike in Mendocino county.

Unite Sportsmen?

The Republican Press has received the communication below and suggests sportsmen interested in the matter act along such of the lines outlined in Secretary Dillard's letter as is for their best interests:

Lake County Associated Sportsmen, Lakeport.
July 20, 1934.

A. R. O'Brien,
Republican Press,
Ukiah, California.

Dear Mr. O'Brien:

It has been suggested by some of the sportsmen of Mendocino county, and very readily agreed to by the members of our county-wide sportsmen's organization, our next regular monthly meeting be held at some point in Mendocino county, preferably in Ukiah, for the purpose of assisting your Mendocino county sportsmen in perfecting a county-wide organization. We have learned in Lake county, through experience, the only method of securing the attention and cooperation of the various state and federal authorities in matters pertaining to fish and game is through organization.

Our county has been strongly organized by its local sportsmen into five units, each being located in the various supervisorial districts. These five districts in turn comprise the Lake County Associated Sportsmen, which in turn is affiliated with the Associated Sportsmen of California, whose membership of clubs similar to ours now numbers 52, from various sections of California.

I believe the interests and the problems to be solved concerning fish and game matters are, in many instances, identical in Lake and Mendocino counties, and it seems almost imperative our two sister communities should be strongly organized. I have written to various individuals in Ukiah, and other cities of your county, along these lines.

If you believe this matter warrants consideration we would be pleased, of course, to have you give it such publicity as you may see fit.

With best personal regards, I remain,

Yours very truly,
D. W. DILLARD,
Executive Secretary.

BUNT BUCKNELL WON AND LOST A TWO-GENDER BATTLE ON ROAD

Could Lick Two Men, But Took The Count With An Amazon

Bunt Bucknell, of Sherwood Valley, will not know where The Republican Press got this story, probably he will not approve its being printed, but, it is such a really good yarn, it cannot be withheld.

Were Hunting Trouble.

When the strike was at its very worst reecntly Bunt Bucknell was attending to his own affairs strictly. On the day in question he was driving a truck with some feeder lambs from his Sherwood Valley ranch to Potter Valley. He had just reached Wool Rock when an automobile with two men and a woman in it approached him. The men in the car began shouting at him and, as the car and the machine passed, the men cursed him.

Bunt Bucknell Lost.

Mr. Bucknell paid no attention to them.. However, the men ran down the road only until they could reach a place where they could turn. Then they came back and, making it difficult for Mr. Bucknell to proceed with his load in safety, Mr. Bucknell came to a halt. The men came up close to the truck in which Mr. Bucknell was sitting and started in to upbraid him in a most profane way. Mr. Bucknell got down on the runnig board of his truck and, just as he did so, one of the men made a run toward Mr. Bucknell. As he did Mr. Bucknell's right hand shot out and the warlike man went down for the count. Immediately Mr. Bucknell was attacked by the other man. "Crack," straight to the jaw of the second man, went the fist of Mr. Bucknell and down went the second tyro. Mr. Bucknell waited a short time and the first man came to. Mr. Bucknell went over to him and, letting him get up, asked if he wanted more. The answer was "No." Soon the second belligerant came to and Mr. Bucknell questioned him in like manner. The second man said "No."

Each of the warriors remained calm.

Bunt Bucknell won.

Woman Got Active.

But honors were not to remain in the Bucknell camp for long. The woman accompanying the men went off the reservation, as it were, and soon was more warlike than either of her male battlers. She came up close to the spot Mr. Bucknell was standing and she called Bunt Bucknell all the names the longshoremen called the police, the strikebreakers and Governor Merriam, and then some. The Sherwood rancher could not, of course, strike a woman, so he remained calm.

The woman won.

Mrs. S. Franceschi arrived Monday to pass a week with her mother, Mrs. P. Garbocci and family. The visitor resides on the Mendocino coast.

BITTEN BY BUG

Ira Fisher has been under the care of a doctor the past 10 days following a bug having gotten into his ear and bitten him. The insect caused an inflamation in the ear which has been most painful to bear and which, at one time, was so alarming it was thought Mr. Fisher's hearing might be impaired permanently.

Leonard Lake Has Many July Guests

Enjoying a pleasant outing on the coast last week, camping near Albion, were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Denham, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown, George, Dan and Clare Denham and Misses Frances, Helen and Kathleen Houdeshell.

FARMERS AROUSED

olutionary inspiration for recent farm troubles.

Inciting The Mexicans.

In and around Oxnard, where sugar beets are about to be harvested, the advance "shock troops" of the radicals are working stealthily among the Mexican field laborers in an endeavor to foment strikes. The winning of a strike, however, is exactly what the agitators do not want to accomplish; rather it is their desire the workers be kept away from their jobs until the crops have rotted in the fields.

An Easy Field.

The question may be raised as to why California agriculture has been selected as the battleground for the Communistic efforts. The answer is simple. It is because of the vulnerability of that industry; most of its crops are highly perishable in nature and must be harvested and disposed of without delay or they will become a total loss .

Sure Loss Follows.

It cannot be too emphatically stated and impressed upon every one who has even the slightest stake in the interest and wellbeing of the farmer, that the harvesting of crops is of vital importance. If they remain unharvested through the cessation of work occasioned by determined radical interference and intervention then these crops, of whatever nature, must lie ruined in the fields, on the vines and upon the trees.

He Cannot Wait.

The grower has a mandatory duty to perform in respect to his ripened crops; he must, under all circumstances, get them out of his fields and orchards and into market channels. Otherwise the labor of his years and his capital investment is utterly extinguished. The Communist agitator is keenly aware of this situation and utilizes it to the fullest extent. Mr. Hougardy knew it when he glibly remarked: "A crisis is the psychological time to press the issue. That illustrates the reason we follow California's crops."

Vast Amount Hazarded.

California's crop vulnerability, as pointed out by Ralph H. Taylor, executive secretary of the Agricultural Council of California, in a recent address on "California's Embattled Farmers," before the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, is shown by the fact that from this state alone are shipped every year to out-of-state markets from 250,000 to 300,000 carloads of fresh fruit and vegetables.

Where Activity Lies.

It is not possible within the compass of a single article to describe the highly efficient, but fortunately not always successful attempts of Communists to throw California's vast agricultural empire into a state of complete demoralization. It will probably suffice here to say these attempts have been made of late in such highly productive areas as the Imperial, Sacramento, the San Joaquin and Santa Clara valleys and more recently in the Diablo valley in Contra Costa county.

How They Work.

In the last-named district the efforts of Caroline Decker and her cohorts proved abortive. A few words concerning that situation will present an accurate picture of how radical organization work is begun and carried through to a conclusion unless growers and officers of the law co-operate to the fullest extent to rid their communities of the unwanted and uninvited strike ringleaders. Brentwood, center of Diablo valley's apricot district was the scene early in June of a massed attempt of non-residents, led by Caroline Decker, to halt fruit picking and packing plant operations. It is significant, too, that Diablo valley was the only apricot section of the state this year to produce a full crop. A highly perishable fruit, it requires immediate harvesting.

They Came In Force.

Upon Brentwood, on June 3, there decended a fleet of automobiles carrying about 250 men and a few women. Picketing of the orchards began immediately, followed by threats of violence against the orchard workers unless they deserted their jobs. A few left their places, but the greater part remained at work and refused to be intimidated. Demands were drawn up by leaders of the picketeers and presented to the growers. They were promptly rejected by a committee of growers for the excellent reason no actual employe had raised any objection to the character of his employment or the wage scale.

Officers Took Charge.

The theatening attitude of the pickets led to effective counter-measures by the growers. They appealed to Sheriff R. R. Veale for protection, and a force of deputies was sent into the district. This force was supplemented by the State Highway Patrol. On June 6, the sheriff issued an order forbidding picketing along the highway and, to enforce this order, some 75 deputies rounded up the agitators and pickets and quartered them in a corral for a couple of hours. After supplying them with lunch, they were escorted to the San Joaquin county line. Fourteen of the ringleaders who resisted the order to cease picketing were arrested under a section of the Penal Code prohibiting disturbances on the public highway.

Many Wanted Work.

At no time during the effort to foment a strike at Brentwood was there any lack of help in the orchards and packing houses. In fact, it was estimated by the growers that there were three applicants for every available job. This information was easily obtainable by any honest worker who was seeking employment.

Urged To Make Trouble.

The Brentwood district, during the few days of the mass picketing operations, was flooded with inflammatory circulars, signed by the Cannery & Agricultural Workers Industrial Union. Among other statements contained in the circulars was this advice: "All camps elect defense committees and insist on your rights. If any arrests take place, notify International Defense League, Oakland, California."

In another article something more will be said about the International Defense League, its affiliation with the Communist party and how it is organized to defend persons accused of revolutionary activities.
